After watching ID about Ruths boys its hard as a mom to understand why this family took the chilling and cruel desision to keep the boys from their mom and always on the run To grow up in an unhealth environment without correcting your son to bring the boys back says enough about this woman She died without her son and grandsons also her late husband must have passed away cold and alone Ruth herself has captured my heart her strenght compassion and love ,a mothers love, is something this family never hadl do hope her sons will return to herPrayers from The Netherlands for that!

Share a memory about Blanche Becker Vossler, eh? OK, well, I remember reading about her puke of a son kidnapping his kids and Blanche and her husband assisting. Too bad she was able to live her natural life out... If someone had given my brother and me 15 minutes alone with the bitch a decade back I guarantee her kidnapped grandsons would have been found and returned to their loving mother from whom Blanche's son kidnapped them.

The father Charles Sr didn't pass until 2014. I have been watching the story and this family may appear as a great family buy shame on them for the pain and anguish they caused Mrs Ruth by aiding their son in alienating her sons from her. Its so sad. As a mother I can only imagine and you would think that the grandparents would have had more sense then to continue until their death bed keeping those boys from her. Just sad

What evil person is this - that would help her son keep his kids from their mother. I am sure Blanche has now met the devil himself after behavior like that.

Evil must be in their genes.

What have you been smoking? She gave birth to and raised up a psychopath. Someone should have tortured the bitch while she was still here and forced her to give up the location of her stolen grandkids.
