Carol's smile was always the first one you saw when you walked into the room. She had the gift of unconditional love and immeasurable patients. Although she struggled with her disability, she took it all in stride, she never let it own her. She surrounded herself with people who her shared laughter her love, and kindness, but mostly her playfulness and so very much more. Even in the darkest of times, you could see that Carole was the one who always had hope. She believed that you could find your way through even the darkest of shadows. My Sweet Carole, Your smile was a gift to us all. You will be so very dearly missed. My deepest sympathies go to her family, to her parents, and to her siblings, And to her extended family, (The Mason family, including The Mason children, and grandchildren) We've lost a very dear part of our smile this very sad day.... Sleep peacefully within God's embrace little one.

Dear Myron, Margaret and Family, Oh my gosh, what can one say to such a sad thing as to what you are all going through. Please know that my prayers for strength in a time of weakness, courage for a time of fear, and peace for a time of turmoil are with each and everyone of you. My most sincere condolences to all of you. Love, Terri, Jamie, Jamie Michael, and Stephen Welsch.
