Scott E. Wing

FEB 27, 2024

Scott E. Wing, age 67, of Willington, Connecticut passed away on February 27, 2024 after bravely battling cancer. He was a man full of wisdom and light, an eclectic spirit to those who knew him. He will be deeply missed, but his presence will remain here forever.

Scott was an honorable man, deeply valued not only in his personal relationships but in his professional endeavors. Scott spent 38 hard-working, committed years working for the Connecticut Department of Energy and Environmental Protection as a highly respected hydrogeologist, until he retired in 2020.

During his retirement years, Scott dedicated time to his many passions and hobbies. He was an avid collector of antiques, engines, and machines. For those privileged enough to enjoy a conversation with him, Scott indulged in the opportunity to share stories of the unique and interesting treasures he would find.

Scott was a loving husband to his wife Laura. When he was not on an adventure of finding new collectables, he enjoyed the peace and serenity of the more simpler fortunes of life. He loved walks with Laurie, trips to the Cape, and most of all spending quality time with his two sons.

For anyone that knew Scott, his favorite and most prideful role in life was his role as being a father. The love Scott had for Christopher and Mike was unmatched. Their bond was deepened by their appreciation for cars or toys for their garages. Even in his elder years, Scott's youth and charisma reignited around the sparks and enjoyments of a new machine.

Scott's memories will live on through the stories of those who cherished him. While many missing his presence have been saddened by his passing, the family finds comfort that he is now reunited with his two favorite labs, Jake and Dakota. Scott will be remembered for his charming stories, his quick wit, but most of all the love and endearment he provided his family.

Dear Laura and the entire Wing family, I've been extremely saddened by the news of Scott's passing. It was an honor and privilege to be a small part of Scott's care team in Manchester. I only got to know Scott for a small sliver of his entire life but immediately thought of him as a tremendously nice guy and I always enjoyed our all too short occasions to converse. May God bless Scott's soul and comfort all of you. Sincerely, Al

It seems I knew Scott all my life. Though we never hung out together. We were the kind of friends that had much in common, loved to gossip about old friends and old times growing up in Enfield. We would run into each other in random places. In the 70s once while snowshoeing by Breakneck Pond at 10 degrees, a mile from the road. Another time while fishing a brook trout stream in Granby. Throughout the years we would say a few words on opening day of trout fishing on Crystal Lake, me with a series of good friends, and he always with Joe Destro, probably for 20-25 years. In time I ended up at the old DEP, Scott was a great help and friend to me, one of the reasons I made it to a pension. He always had Enfield news for me as we would meet randomly over the years. I did not know he had passed until this morning, I wish I could have come in person to give my condolences. Although we had not seen each other for a while, I am saddened knowing there are no more random meetings coming for us. One day I was complaining about growing up in Enfield when we did, Scott admonished me, and reminded me that we grew up in the best of times in a great place, we were the peak of the baby boom and got everything our depression era parents couldn't dream of. He was of course right. I can't imagine your loss. I shall miss him. Jim Santacroce

I knew and work with Scott for 25 years. Always up-beat, he always took care of business; usually on the most difficult issues concerning contaminated drinking water wells. When the goings got tough, Scott got going; never stand offish. Happy Trails to you Scottie. Blessed are the memories.

I first met Scott as my ECSC roommate of 118 Crandall Hall exactly 50 years ago in September 1974. A time when he had wavy red hair, a booming laugh, and a melodic "how ya doin?" I'm unsure whether Scott ever knew I was a "fix" to an administrative error that had originally mis-assigned a woman as his roommate! As often happens with divine twists of fate, that error led to one of my life's great friendships. If we choose to measure friendships by time spent together, then what Scott and I shared might have seemed modest; if measured instead by the joy expressed and felt from his many letters over decades recounting his love for Laura, his sons, his black labs, and his career, then our friendship was unbounded. It seems to me that he lived a best life including an adventurous career of exploring remote New England countryside, a home life enriched by hobbies and collections, and, most of all, loving family and friends. Scott's fearless spirit, genuine decency, and infectious laugh will resonate in our hearts and keep the blessing that he was alive always. May infinitely many happy memories comfort the days of sadness while time subtly and gently lends its restorative effects.

Scott and I were in the EES program at ECSC. I had a lot of fun being in classes and interacting with him. He was a half semester ahead of me and I admired his commitment to the environment and his pursuit of his own career path. A few years later, Scott and I were working together at the DEP. He was a great mentor, helping me learn the ins and outs of the department and how best to work in the field to protect people and the environment. Winger, his college nickname, left the world a better place and I thank him for that. Jim Dziuba

I am saddened with the loss of Scott and so sorry for his family. Scott has left us all with so many memories. He was my mentor for many, many years when I started working beside him in 1987. Under his tutelage, I learned the dynamics of the State of Connecticut and the workings, faults, and corrective needs/measures of leaking underground storage tanks. By watching Scott in the field, I learned the nuances of interacting with environmental contractors. It struck me early on that, although Scott was unyielding on the goals of tank remediation, he was consistent, firm, but reasonable. All contractors respected him and liked him. That was an indictment to his character and how he interacted with everybody. That mentorship was the foundation of my career with DEEP. Scott was a unique character, and a person that engaged you in conversation of your liking. He had his opinions and his ways, and those served him to his liking. I am saddened by his passing!
